Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I am against the current remedy, as Microsoft has shown time and again that it's highest buisness priority is to eliminate, either through aquisition or destruction, any and all of it's competition, be it real or perceived.

I do not believe that the current remedy will deter Microsoft at all; it will only serve to encourage them, as they will surely view this a a mere (and inexpensive, for them) slap on the wrist.

Thank You,
